Summary

AI Engineer with a Ph.D. in Computer Science and 5 years of experience as an Operations Research consultant. I build optimization and machine learning models for real scheduling, allocation, and forecasting problems, and I explain the results clearly to management.

Experience

Sunway University, Lecturer, Department of Data Science and Artificial Intelligence — Dec 2025 – present
Leading an optimization research group that solves real-world scheduling problems, and teaching optimization, machine learning, and software engineering.

Universiti Putra Malaysia, Graduate Researcher & Tutor — Sep 2020 – Sep 2025
Built hybrid metaheuristics that solve large real-world university timetabling problems, and taught programming and machine learning.

Independent Consultant, Operations Research Engineer — Jan 2020 – Mar 2025
Found inefficiencies in client workflows, built and deployed optimization and prediction models, and presented the results to management.

Pars Six Sigma Excellence, Software Engineer — Jul 2017 – Jul 2019
Built and maintained a CRM system with a Java backend and a SQL database in a small software team.

IKCO, Android Developer (Internship) — Jun 2016 – Sep 2016
Built an Android app that lets assembly line workers check parts stock and order parts from their station.

Projects

ESA Space Optimisation Competition (SpOC 4) — 2026
Ranked 3rd globally in the Luna Tomato Advertising challenge of the European Space Agency's space logistics optimization competition at GECCO 2026, using permutation encodings and simulated annealing. Our solutions were published as two GECCO 2026 papers.

International Timetabling Competition 2019 — 2022
An implementation of the International Timetabling Competition 2019 benchmark, the latest benchmark for university course timetabling, built as the core of my Ph.D.

Auto Parts Finder — 2016
An Android app used by assembly line workers at IKCO to check parts stock in real time and order parts, which cut idle time on the line.
